WHITE PAPER 1.0

ABSTRACT

Assigens NFT collection is an abstract approach to the ϩ storyline. This collectibles were inspired by a complex and compelling universe about technology, society and futurism. The story is aimed to give a literacy background to the ■wεεrtεuεwεkεηε project and produce an entertainment driven mechanism of utility.

Assigens are the missing key to understand how, "ϩmachine", an hypothetical artificial intelligence machine used blockchain technology to encrypt genetic material and create the perfect human being.

The profound statement these pieces of encrypted art are carrying is the questioning of how life is conceptualized against non organic entities like, robots, lab made viruses and energy.

" Isn't human genetic material just a bunch of organic encrypted information? "

ABOUT US

The team behind the Assigens

We are establishment digital renegades, crypto addicts, wallet nomads and geek wanderlusters. We are the lost white hat hackers, ex cypherpunks, well known cyber bullies and pirates of the internet.

Our team is made by people from all around the world, women and men that love disruption, creative projects and freedom. We are the new wave of devs. We love Silicon Valley but you can find us getting drunk in Tulum, Miami and Ibiza. We are those from the legendary sneakers, the magic gummies and the old school napster, the pirate bay and burning man.

You can think of us as the "wtfpirates". ■wεεrtεuεwεkεηε

CREATIVE VISION

We're aiming for a collection to give background for a huge and compelling story inspired on algorismocracy, a hypothetical political system proposed by wtfpirate on 2019 through the hacked forum "cyberenegades".

Algorismocracy gained track on the deep geopolitical web during January – April of 2019 and the term was mentioned outside deep web on WEF 2020 and lately on some political science papers from harvard university.

Just before the server of cyberenegades was taken down by US intelligence, member @glorinacus673333_! posted a sci-fi short story inspired on the hypothesis and Isaac Asimov – The Last Question book. The story was then reposted 3 months after that by @3333glori on InsideRats Reddit. Then the subreddit was also taken down and copies of the original story emerged again on different political forums of the deep web.

UTILITY VISION

The Assigens distribution started in collab with staykx.com with the SSm token. First market makers had the chance of acquiring the IOU token inside a pool of STX and FKm. The other mechanism of distribution was pushed inside the ■wawtramsuifuckxam server #giveaway channel, by holding FKm, people participated on scarce distribution vía AD.

The final NFT swap will be done in collab with onchainmarketplace.net
The final swap will be 1 SSm = 1 Assigen.

After the swap period, the NFTs will start a mechanism of stayking inside the staykx.com website. We're aiming to reward holders with the same royalties extracted from sales. So then, royalties will become a tax for paper hands selling the NFT.

Other utility mechanism will be pushed out on Q1 2023, those have to do with roles inside ■wawtramsuifuckxam server and the breeding of a new collection for the ones that are also holding #ASSIMOVs collection.

THE ASSIGENS NFT

This is a XLS-20 XRPL NFT collection made with a combination of algorithms and human digital artwork intervention. Built inside an abstract perspective of storyline elements, the Assigens are are conceptual pieces of art representing the experimentation from \mathfrak{m} Scientists to produce the perfect human being using \mathfrak{m} Blocks.

Scientists failed so many times and produced an archive of 3,500 envelopes that were kept inside \mathfrak{m} achine bunker. Inside these envelopes, the results from the first experimentation were found. The full experiment was called the Assigens, those were prototype human beings killed during first experiments as "testing and fixing" for a better society.

CODE FRAMEWORK

The artists produced 35 different text animations done with various perspectives and cameras in 3D software. The font used in the animated backgrounds uses a custom semi-serif variation of Helvetica, one of the most common typefaces in the computer world. Each background is called a "CODE FRAMEWORK" and is an abstraction of what the Assigens coders got into their programming console after running the \mathfrak{m} Blocks first genetic code.

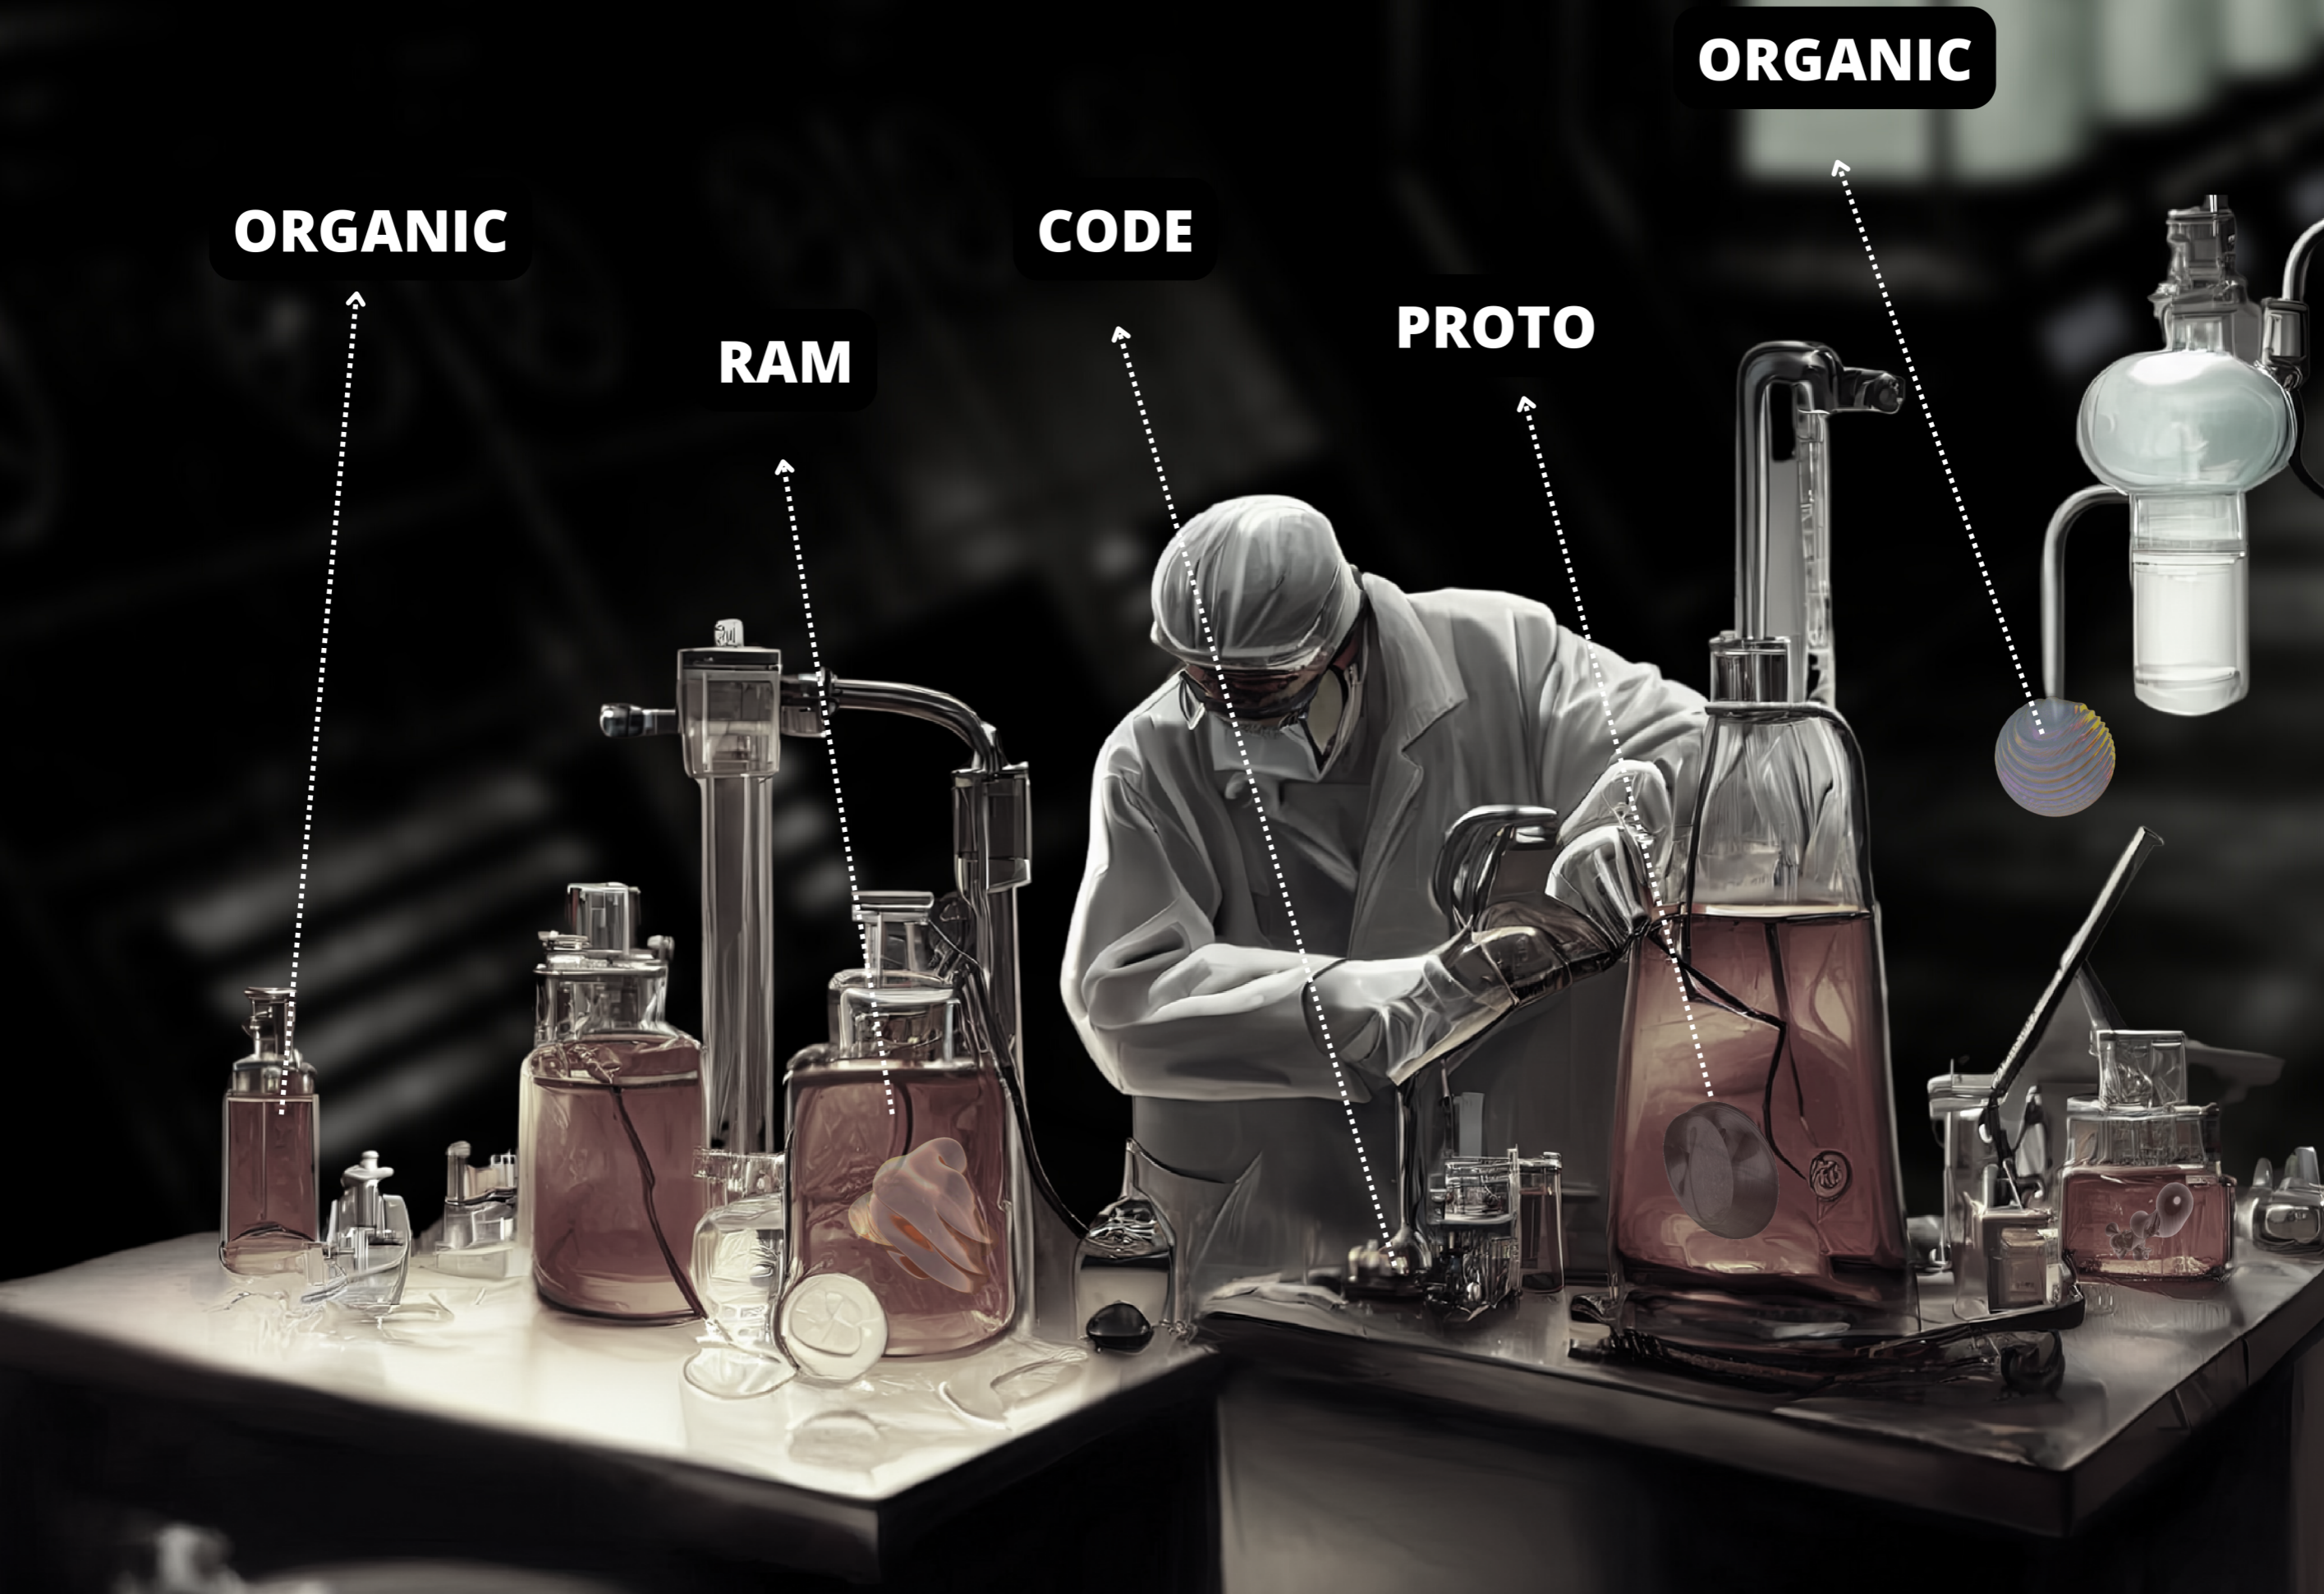

SKINS

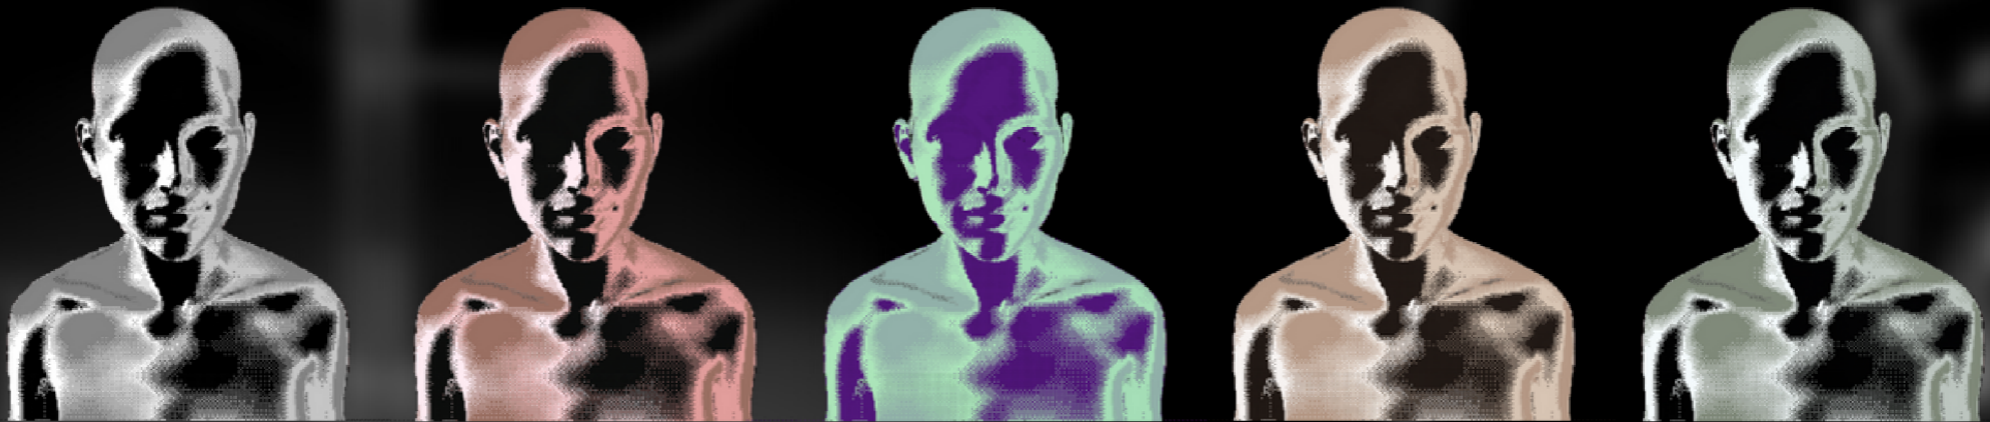

The character you can find in every NFT is called humahn. Is a non binary artificially created human based on normal genetic material with the addition of encryption inside m Blocks, a technology humans developed at the end of Satoshi's Era, year 2124.

You can find the character humahn engraved with 31 different types of genetic appearance. From Organic Marble to Proto Oxyde these aesthetic came from the abstraction of a designing process were blueprints, sketches, clay dummies and final products are made. These textures work as the clothes for every Assigen, but team didn't want to go with the mainstream "hat" to produce this trait of rarity.

LAB SEALS

Each NFT comes with a  lab seal. These tiny pieces of art tell the precedence of each Assigen. After Satoshi's Era, decentralized world government established these facilities to start working with encrypted genetic material. Each lab was assigned with a taxon seal as identifier for tests and scientific presentation.

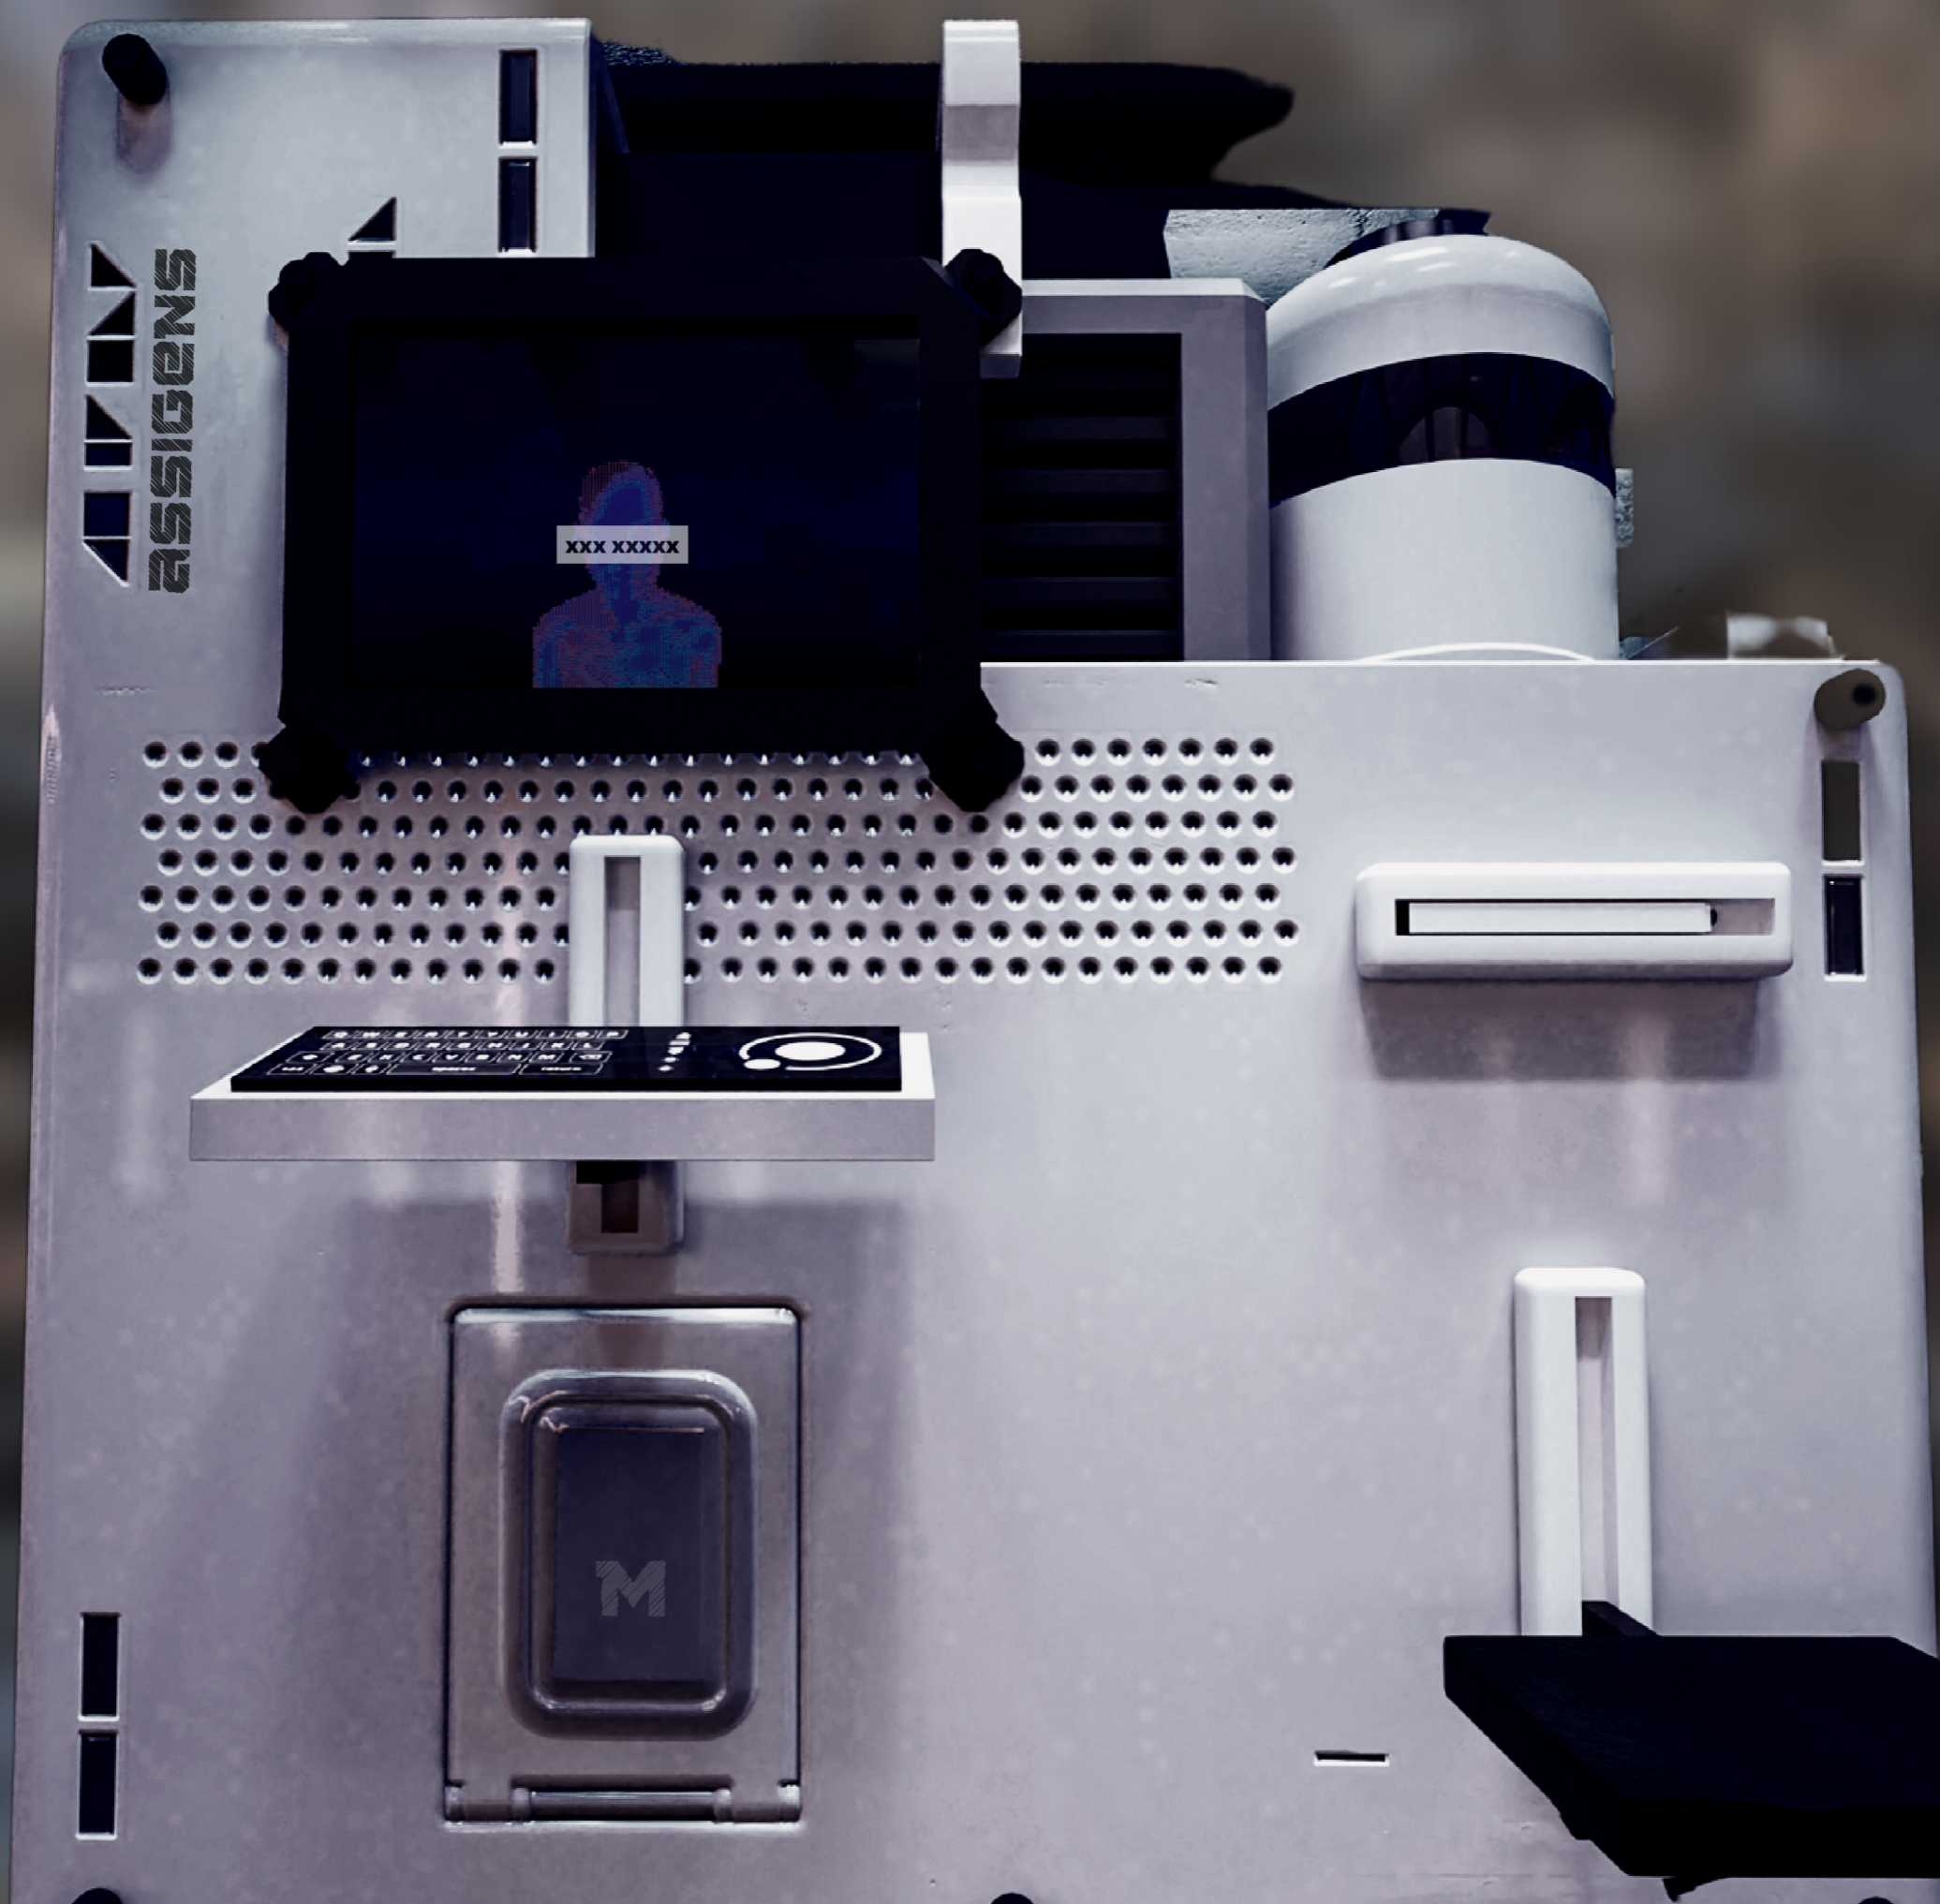

Because decentralized government was not controlled by politicians, brands and common people were able to submit their art for vote. Those pieces of art won the vote. No one really knows the meaning behind them.

SNIPPETS

Every m Block on the quantum chain was carrying all the transactions in history behind. Because those same blocks were used for encrypting the genetic material to produce life, then every Assigen was born with some random snippets extracted from memos of those millions of transactions in history. Those ideology snippets had been written by humans during the 116 years of Satoshi's Era.

There are 44 ideology snippets extracted from transactions found on the well-known ■wreitsuiawkyan7 server. Those snippets were sent by a crypto tribe of the year 2022 known as "The m" tribe. It seems that in those days people used to gather and create value through digital engagement as a tradition of their culture. This trait is what we call a community collab trait.

EVIDENCE ENVELOPES

After each genetic experiment, every m Lab was instructed to submit their findings, the Assigen corpses and their the result brief to the bunker were machine decentralized government was. Son then, m Scientists started to send what people called "dead envelopes". In the NFT collection, you'll find an abstraction of each envelope with the plastic materials scientists used. You can think of this trait as the "different sun glasses" of each piece.

These plastic elements can also be found around works of art produced by the unflake brand. We like plastic, we are plastic, we are products wrapped in organic packaging, that is part of the statement.
